Charleston, SC — The Charleston County School District (CCSD) will hold the third of six* listening sessions on Wednesday, June 28 at 6:00 PM. Wednesday night's session will include a business leader panel roundtable representing a cross-section of small and large local, national, and international corporations based in the Charleston area. The second of the additional five teacher listening sessions will also take place tomorrow from 3:00 to 4:00 PM.

Held at the district's administrative building, 75 Calhoun Street, the CCSD listening sessions are designed to collect input from key stakeholders including teachers, principals, parents, students, and area community and business leaders. The participation from these groups will be the foundation of a new strategic plan for the district.

All sessions are open to the public and include overflow seating as needed. The second portion of the session will be open for general comments from the audience and attendees.

At the conclusion of the listening session series, the administration will present a new strategic plan incorporating stakeholder feedback to the board.

For more information about the upcoming listening sessions, please contact the Office of Strategy and Communications at (843) 937-6303 or communications@charleston.k12.sc.us.
