Family Vision Night at North Charleston Creative Arts Elementary

Who: Parents and community members are encouraged to attend. Media outlets are also welcome.

What: North Charleston Creative Arts Elementary School (NCCAES) will host a special Family Vision Night for all parents. Attendees will be able to take part in a discussion titled "How to Raise Smarter Children with Brain-Friendly Parenting," led by best-selling author and radio host Dr. Linda Karges-Bone. Dr. Bone is the Director of Education for In-Site, and is known for her lively and engaging presentations. She combines research and humor as parents learn about the latest news concerning their child's brain development, with emphasis on the impact of toxins, the importance of sleep, specific nutritional choices, learning styles, and family dynamics. 100 families will receive Dr. Bone's bestselling book "Brain Tips," containing activities to increase brain development, critical thinking, and language fluency.

Another highlight of the evening will be NCCAES first graders performing a drama-integrated literature presentation. Other grade levels will display examples of integrated arts standards they have learned during the school year as well.

When: Tuesday, April 4, 2017 at 5:00 p.m.

Where: North Charleston Creative Arts Elementary School, Multi-Purpose Room, 5200 Lackawanna Blvd., North Charleston, SC 29405

About Charleston County School District

Charleston County School District (CCSD) is the second largest school system in South Carolina representing a unique blend of urban, suburban, and rural schools that span 1,000 square miles along the coast. CCSD serves more than 50,000 students in 86 schools and several specialized programs. With approximately 6,100 employees district-wide, CCSD is the fourth largest employer in the region.
