Stephanie Flock Named Principal at Morningside Middle

Charleston, SC — Charleston County School District (CCSD) is pleased to announce Stephanie Flock as Principal of Morningside Middle School. She served as the interim principal at Morningside for the 2016-17 school year.

Flock has become a staple of the Morningside community; she has been on staff since 2009, first as a lead teacher, then as an assistant principal. She has been a fixture in CCSD as well; she joined the District in 1997 as a social studies teacher at the former Alice Birney Middle School where she was the school's Teacher of the Year in 2006-07.

"My core belief is that all children are not only capable of learning, but truly want to learn," said Flock, in describing her philosophy on education. "Therefore, it is imperative for educators to be catalysts in that endeavor."

Flock began her career in education in her native state of Ohio in 1995 as a middle school geography and world history teacher.

During her time in the Lowcountry, Flock has worked with at-risk youth and on violence prevention programs. She has also helped her schools earn grants for improving school climate and reducing negative behavior by students.

Flock graduated from Bowling Green University in Ohio with a Bachelor of Science in Education. She earned both her master's degree in Educational Leadership and Specialist in Education degree in Superintendency from The Citadel.
